Courtney Burnett

Wednesday, March 16, 2022

6:00 - 8:00 pm EST

A virtual Zoom event

When Courtney Burnett, a young American physician studying medicine in Thailand, began to experience unexplained neurological symptoms, the last thing she expected was to diagnose herself with a malignant brain tumor.

Difficult Gifts is an honest, intimate, and liberating memoir written by a physician who becomes a patient. Facing mortality before the age of thirty, she finds courage rather than fear. Through it all she shares how to embrace the life we have been given. With daring honesty this new writer teaches us the value of a difficult gift: a gift that teaches us, motivates us, changes us, and inspires us.

Courtney talks about her travels around the world and surviving/living with a brain tumor.

Book discussion follows her lecture.
